The Vestergaard Company electric water truck is designed to enable the operator to service aircraft in a highly efficient and hygienic manner. Tanks and all components are made of food-grade stainless steel suitable for drinking water.

The water service truck can be delivered in one tank or optionally two tanks. The additional tank is for draining water from aircraft. The tanks are isolated, but additional winterization including heated tanks, heated couplings and even a steam generator can be installed for smooth operation all throughout the year. The water service unit can service any type of commercial aircraft.

Safety is insured with sensors on the basket and optionally. The basket can be adjusted both vertically and horizontally to achieve the optimal service position.

The Vestergaard Company electrical chassis allows driving up to approximately 50 km and 8-10 hours of operation before it needs to be recharged. It comes with an onboard charger.

Operators can now operate equipment in closed gate areas with zero emissions, no noise and no small particle pollution – it is even possible to service aircraft in closed hangars.
